INTRODUCTION.

IN presenting to the public the Fourteenth State Census of Iowa, (the earlier enumerations of population having been made as frequently as once in every two or three years), it is not deemed necessary by the Executive Council to attempt any review of the history of census taking in this state, and the successive legislation governing the same, as this has been very fully and carefully done in the introductory pages of prior census reports, especially those of 1875 and 1880; the former compiled under the direction of the Executive Council and the latter by the Secretary of State under special acts of the Legislature. Neither is it thought proper to enter into any discussion as to the causes which lie back of the figures contained in this volume, or to account for any given state of facts.

The Executive Council in 1875, however, submitted in connection with the census report of that year, certain suggestions as to methods in gathering and compiling statistics of population, resources, etc., to which it may be well to revert here in the light of subsequent experience. Referring to the matter of accuracy in the statistics the Council said:

It was at once seen that this could best be obtained by some plan of operations similar to that of the federal enumeration, and of the State enumeration of 1856. It was suggested to the Council that, while the law contemplated abstracts being prepared of each county's statistics by its Auditor, yet this might be complied with in its intent if the Assessors' returns were made in duplicate, and one copy sent up by the County Auditor in lieu of an abstract. This would permit of the compilation of all the returns under one supervision, which is almost a necessity to the highest accuracy. The Council decided that, however desirable this mode of making the returns evidently was, there was not a sufficient appropriation at its disposal to warrant that body in procuring the clerical force necessary for the labor of arranging and collating the facts contained in the returns from some fifteen hundred townships, towns and cities, spread over some forty thousand blanks. It was then determined to make the inquiry as thorough as seemed at all likely to be practicable, under the system heretofore prevalent.

The statutory limitation as to expenditure, which prevented the Council at that time from pursuing the method which its judgment approved, was so far removed by the Sixteenth General Assembly as to allow the Council to employ the extra clerical force necessary to compile the statistics from the returns made by the Assessors if it should appear that this plan was essential to accuracy and was not in other respects in contravention of law.

The unsatisfactory results obtained by the Council in 1875, under the plan which it reluctantly followed, of having the Assessors' returns abstracted by the County Auditors, impressed the Council with the importance of very carefully considering the propriety of adopting a different method. It was finally decided to require Assessors to make duplicate schedules of the returns as to population, one copy to be forwarded by the County Auditors to the Secretary of State and the statistics to be compiled under his direction; the statistics as to the productions and resources of the State to be gathered as before, i. e., by having the County Auditors make abstracts from the Assessors' returns, from which abstracts the compilation should be made under the direction of the Secretary of State. This was only a half step, but being largely an experiment, was all the Council felt justified in taking.

The results are in the highest degree satisfactory and afford the most ample proof of the wisdom of having the entire compilation made under the supervision of one person. For example the Council of 1875 says:

The attempt to obtain the nativity of the population was not so successful as could be desired; while that to procure a statement of the places of birth of the voters was measurably a failure. It was expected that there would be many whose nativities could not or would not be ascertained, and hence would not be reported. The deficient number would in that case appear in these pages as "Unknown." But, while these deficiencies are much greater than was looked for, there is, in the returns of a large number of the Assessors, an actual surplus in the columns of nativities over the whole number of inhabitants; in other words, the number of persons whose birthplaces are reported exceeds that of the whole number of people.

The report goes on to show that one county with 5,272 voters, reports birthplaces for 11,940; that another with 4,117 voters reports birthplaces for 10,652; while still another with 4,901 voters gives nativities for 9,787. The report concludes its reference to this subject by saying: "These errors make the returns of nativities of voters therefore almost worthless; while those of population are comparatively unreliable."

In striking contrast with this showing the Council would call attention to the fact that the population statistics in the present report bear every evidence of being as near to perfect accuracy as would seem to be practicable, the table showing at a glance the birthplaces of the population of every county in the state, being especially a matter of pride to the Council.

The method pursued in the preparation of these statistics was such as to afford a system of checking and verification insuring the highest degree of accuracy. Indeed the only presumption that could be raised against the absolute correctness of the figures given would be a presumption of the omission of Assessors to enumerate all the inhabitants of their respective districts. But the work of these officers in other respects bears testimony to such painstaking thoroughness on their part that the Council feels warranted in commending this portion of the work to the entire confidence of the people.

It is a matter of regret that the figures relating to the resources and productions of the state do not justify a similar degree of credence. This is, without question, largely due to the fact that the compiling of these statistics was left to the ninety-nine County Auditors of the state, instead of being done entirely under the supervision of one person, as in the case of the population statistics. To illustrate: The abstract from one county showed the number of domestic grape vines in a certain township to be 784, the product of which, for 1884, was put down at 90,550 pounds of fruit, or an average of over 115 pounds to the vine. The number of sheep in one township appears to be 31; the value of same, $20,106.50, or $648.59 per head. In many townships a large valuation was reported with no corresponding number of articles, head of stock, etc., to which the valuation refers. These discrepancies and absurdities are not confined to any class of items, but are so numerous as to seriously discredit the greater part of the agricultural statistics. Of course every possible effort was made to have all such errors corrected, but the difficulties encountered in attempting to get back of the ninety-nine County Auditors' abstracts may be easily imagined. Had the Secretary of State been in possession of the Assessors' schedules, showing the figures as to each farm separately, it will be readily seen that the methods of verification, employed to such good purpose on the population tables, could have been applied with equal advantage in getting rid of the errors above instanced.

It is true that the large clerical force required at the Capitol to compile the statistics from the Assessors' returns, implies a corresponding augmentation in the amount disbursed direct from the state treasury on account of the census. But so far from increasing the cost to the people of the state, there is every reason for believing that this method results in a material saving in expense. No argument is necessary to prove that a given number of clerks, working under the direction of a single head, and under strict rules, rigidly enforced, as to hours, etc., will render a more satisfactory equivalent in work for the amount paid therefor, than would be obtained from the same number of clerks working under the diverse conditions incident to a hundred different departments.

In view of these considerations, the members of the Council have no hesitancy in recommending such changes in the law as will not only permit but require future census compilations to be made in accordance with the plan suggested.

Another improvement urged by the Council in 1875 commends itself to the careful attention of the legislature, viz.: that of having the enumeration made by persons selected especially for that purpose, instead of by Township Assessors. The grounds for this proposed change, briefly stated, are as follows:

There is an idea in the minds of many people that all information furnished to the Assessor as to farm products, etc., is applied to swell the valuation of their taxable property, especially when the census enumeration is taken at the same time that property is listed for taxation. The very natural result is that the official figures in the aggregate do not do justice to the actual resources of the state.

Again, the decennial enumeration is taken in the years in which real estate is listed for assessment, a list of the militia prepared, and, in the larger cities, a registration of voters obtained. The amount of work imposed on the Assessor in the performance of these duties is so great for the time allowed, as to forbid the expectation of perfect work.

And again, in the larger cities the immense amount of work imposed on the Assessor delays the enumeration beyond the annual "moving time," when so many families change their residence from one part of the city to another, making it exceedingly difficult to get a fair enumeration of the population.

Indeed it is not easy to find a single argument of any force in support of the present plan, while the objections to it are manifold.

As to the plan of special enumerators, the following from the report already quoted, presents the matter very clearly :

The plan of township, town, and city enumerators, however, should be adhered to. There are none too many now for expeditious work ; and the value of a census is heightened by every day saved in completing it. The enumeration of Great Britain is taken in one day. Such rapidity, although actually more desirable here than there because of the more frequent changes of residence in a new country and hence greater danger of omissions and duplications, is doubtless impracticable with us ; but there would seem to be no reason why the enumeration of inhabitants could not be completed in a week. The data in regard to agriculture, manufactures, mines, private schools, etc., could be obtained at more leisure. Protraction here will not affect reliability. It is believed that with an enumerator in each township and town, two or three in each city of the second class, and one for each ward in a city of the first class, and an additional one for every considerable nationality in any neighborhood speaking a foreign tongue, the number of inhabitants and all the statistics of population could be obtained in so short a time as to insure a degree of accuracy far greater than can be hoped for under a census the taking of which is protracted through several months.

To the changes suggested let another be added: The state enumeration is now taken as of January 1, and the federal enumeration as of June 1. One of these should be changed to conform to the other. It is hardly to be expected that the General Government will move in the matter. The mountain would not go to Mahomet, so Mahomet went to the mountain. There is no advantage gained by having the close of the decennial census term on January 1. There would be, at least, two distinct advantages gained by changing it to June 1, viz.: The alternating federal enumeration would give us a census every five years exactly instead of approximately. This would enable us to make comparisons now impossible. The second advantage will appear by reference to the following section of the Act of Congress, providing for the enumeration of 1880:

That if any state or territory, through its duly appointed officers or agents, shall, during the two months beginning on the first Monday of June of the year which is the mean between the decennial censuses of the United States, by this act directed to be taken, take and complete a census in all respects according to the schedules and forms of enumeration in the census of the United States, and shall deposit with the Secretary of the Interior on or before the first of September following, a full and authentic copy of all schedules returned and reports made by the officers and agents charged with such enumeration, then the Secretary of the Treasury shall, upon receiving a certificate from the Secretary of the Interior that such schedules and reports have been duly deposited, pay, on the requisition of the Governor of such state or territory, out of any funds in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, a sum equal to fifty per centum of the amount which was paid to all supervisors and actual enumerators within such state or territory at the United States census next preceding, increased by one half the percentage of gain in population in such state or territory between the two United States censuses next preceding; Provided, That the blank schedules used for the purposes of the enumeration herein provided for, shall be similar, in all respects of form and size of heading and ruling, to those used in the census of the United States.

The amount that would accrue to the state of Iowa under this section is not known to the Council, but is said to be something like fifty thousand dollars. So large a contribution toward meeting the expenses of our census enumeration ought not to be lost to the state simply through legislative neglect.

In conclusion it may be said that the growth of the state in population during the last decade, as indicated by a comparison of the present census with that of 1875, while marked and healthy, is not so large as many have anticipated. The population of 1875, as ascertained by the census of that year, was 1,350,644. This year it is found to be 1,753,980, a gain of 403,436, or about 30 per cent for the ten years, being an average annual increase of about 3 per cent.

The heaviest gains, as was to be expected, have been made in the more sparsely settled communities, many of the newer counties showing an increase of from two hundred to over one thousand per cent for the decade. This wonderful growth, however, has been largely overcome by the older counties of the state, some sixteen of which show an actual falling off from the figures of 1875.

In view, however, of the inaccuracies in the population tables of the 1875 census, which have been previously pointed out in these pages, it is possible an injustice is done to the facts by the percentages above given.

The following table shows the growth of the state in population from 1836 to 1885:

YEAR OF CENSUS.	Population.	Increase from previous census	Average annual increase.	Average annual percentage of increase.
1836.....	10,531
1838.....	22,859	12,328	6.164	58.53
1844.....	75,152	52,293	8.715	38.58
1846.....	97,588	22,436	11.218	18.56
1847.....	116,651	19,063	19.063	19.53
1849.....	152,988	36,337	18.168	15.58
1851.....	204,774	51,786	25.893	16.93
1852.....	230,713	25,939	25.939	12.67
1854.....	326,013	95,300	47,650	20.69
1856.....	519,055	193,042	96,521	29.61
1859.....	638,775	119,720	39,907	7.69
1863.....	701,732	62,957	15,739	2.46
1865.....	764,699	62,967	26,483	3.77
1867.....	902,040	147,341	73,670	9.76
1869.....	1,040,819	138,779	69,389	7.69
1873.....	1,251,333	210,514	52,628	5.06
1875.....	1,350,644	99,211	49,605	3.66
1885.....	1,753,980	403,436	40,343	2.99

For obvious reasons it would scarcely be profitable to attempt comparisons of figures relating to the products and resources of the state.

It is hoped that the miscellaneous tables printed toward the close of the volume will prove of sufficient usefulness to justify their incorporation as a part of the work.

It would be unjust to fail to record here an acknowledgment of the faithful and intelligent services of the Township Assessors of the state in obtaining the material for this report, and of the county Auditors in the performance of their share of the work.

Commendatory mention is also due to Mr. J. M. Clark, the Chief Clerk under whose efficient supervision the clerical work at the Capitol has been performed, as well as to the competent corps of clerks employed under his charge.

Of the patient and untiring efforts of the Hon. Frank D. Jackson, Secretary of State, to make this census report a credit to the great state of Iowa, his three associate members of the Executive Council desire to express the highest admiration. The chief burden and responsibility of the work has rested upon him, and he has met the requirements of the heavy task with tireless industry and perfect fidelity to the trust imposed.

In the hope that this compilation of Iowa statistics, notwithstanding its defects, will in some reasonable measure conserve the ends for which it was designed, and that the experience encountered in its preparation may result in much more perfect work in the next enumeration, this volume is respectfully committed to the people of the state.

* There is but little land occupied by tenants in our county. The two first I have mentioned as rented are good land, but poorly furnished with buildings; the third is rather poor land, and only moderately comfortable fixtures. The hired help problem is becoming a serious one to farmers who are obliged to have help. The present generation of hired help seem to want to spend too much time in social pastime, and leave the farmer in the pinch of the game to do the best he can. Farmers who have farms large enough would prefer to employ a man with a family and furnish him a house, but very few laboring men seem to like the plan.

+ "Modern machinery has made personal development a necessity (brains) in farming. Multiplied by four, he must mind his business (manage it by mind) or get distanced. Large areas, understocked, twenty-five per cent less animals, more feed, twenty-five per cent more fat—"all flesh is grass;" no grass, no fat flesh—poor cattle, poor farmer. Iowa is a great State for grass if it be allowed to grow, but the most of all her pasture lots are bare all summer. To restore worn soils we must seed down to grass, and feed on the ground to retain manures, liquid and solid, rather than cart to the barnyard and back. The dear man is too valuable to have such cheap stuff. While land is sold at $30 per acre, better buy four acres and watch the cows feed than two acres and work himself too hard. The new sod can be turned again as new land, producing one-third more crop with same outlay for hired help. Thus we manage 1,000 acres, with four men living in tenement houses rent free, some fruit free, boarding themselves and families. Wages cash, on demand, $1.25 per day.

‡ During the summer season there is generally a scarcity of farm help, which our farmers feel quite severely.

The foregoing table giving the out-put of coal for the years represented, is only an approximate estimate, as all the mines have not made reports to this office of their total out-put.

For the year 1885 there were returns sent to this office from four hundred and seventeen mines, leaving seventy-two mines not reported.

It will be noticed that the out-put for 1885 is 317,701 tons less than for the year 1884. This deficiency or falling off is attributed to several causes, one of which was the protracted strike at What Cheer, in Keokuk county, and at Angus, in Boone county, as either mining camp had a large daily out-put, and when they went on a strike it gave the operators of Illinois a fine chance for taking contracts in a territory that geographically belongs to Iowa.

EXPLANATIONS.—In the columns headed Elementary and Didactic of the above table, the number of graduates does not agree with the number in the same columns of previous reports. As twenty-three (23) persons have graduated, first in one course and afterwards in another, and as previous reports gave the number of graduations, the real number of persons who have graduated is not shown correctly. The above table is a correction of previous tables, and shows the actual number of graduates now existing in each the highest course in which a student graduated being the one in which he is counted.

Students from all parts of the State attend the school. The number of counties represented is sixty-three (63) for the year 1883-4, and sixty-nine (69) for the year 1884-5. Seventy-six (76) counties of Iowa have had students here during these two years, and eight (8) counties from six (6) other States have also been represented. These students propose to become residents of Iowa, and to teach here. As a rule, derived from past years, they do remain.

Examining the catalogues, picked up at random, of fifteen State normal schools in eleven different States, I found the following attendance in the normal departments, proper, to be: 412-413-339-446-393-385-216-243-645-136-261-286-476-594-300. These schools are located in the Eastern, the Middle and the Western States, and some of them have been established for a quarter of a century, and all for a longer time than our normal school, which, for the last year enrolled 408 students.

To the statement, should it be made, that it is not just to compare the attendance of the one State normal school of Iowa with the attendance of a school in a State that has several normal schools, a number of replies can be given: 1. There are several prominent normal schools in Iowa managed by private associations and seeking patronage. 2. The normal schools of adjacent and remote States receive considerable patronage from Iowa. 3. Nearly every college in our State has a normal department, and under that guise attracts students. 4. The State University of Iowa has a chair of didactics. 5. Some high schools have set up a normal department. 6. The normal institutes give diplomas at the completion of a course of study, which requires only eight or ten weeks attendance in four short yearly sessions. These diplomas in many counties become permanent licenses to the holders to teach, an authority that is not conceded to the State normal school diplomas, to obtain which requires four years of continuous study, or one hundred and sixty weeks. Certainly, Iowa's State normal school is not free from competition.

The inquiry is sometimes made "from what classes of citizens do your students come?" The reply made by five hundred students as to the occupation of the father, give the following exhibit: Farmers, 319; mechanics, 16; business men, 87; professional men, 21; laborers, 19; self-supporting, 38. The farming class, therefore, provides about 64 per cent of our students. The farmers, the mechanics and the laborers, together, furnish 71 per cent, adding the 7½ per cent of the self-supporting class, the young men and women "winning their way," we have 80 per cent furnished by the productive classes. But we are pleased to note that the business and professional classes provide 20 per cent of our patronage.

The number of male pupils enrolled was.....	71
The number of female pupils enrolled was.....	80
The whole number of pupils instructed during the term was.....	151

As will be seen, the greatest number of pupils enrolled within the two school terms embraced in this report was 157. During the first term of this period,

The number of male pupils admitted was.....	20
The number of female pupils admitted was.....	16
The whole number of pupils admitted was.....	36

During the second term of this period,

The number of male pupils admitted was.....	21
The number of female pupils admitted was.....	16
The whole number of pupils admitted was.....	37
The number of pupils admitted during the period was.....	73
The whole number of pupils in attendance.....	183

NOTE.—The following statistics are taken from the Ninth Biennial Report of the Superintendent of the Boys' Department, and the Seventh Biennial Report of the Superintendent of the Girls' Department.

ORGANIZATION OF THE SCHOOL.

The instituting and organizing an Industrial School—until recently the Reform School—of this State has exerted a progress in reformation and moral elevation amongst the wards of the State greater than could have been anticipated by the most sanguine, at its inception. Its ultimate success is now assured, and the proportion of children in whom complete reformation has been achieved is greater than that of any other similar institution in any State in the Union, excepting Pennsylvania.

CENSUS RETURNS.

THE BUREAU OF LABOR STATISTICS.

---

E. E. HUTCHINS, DES MOINES, COMMISSIONER.

This department of State work was created by the Twentieth General Assembly for the purpose of "collecting, assorting, systematizing and presenting in biennial reports to the Governor, statistical details relating to all departments of labor in the State, especially in its relation to the commercial, social, educational and sanitary conditions of the laboring classes, and to the permanent prosperity of the mechanical, manufacturing and productive industries of the State; and as fully as practicable collect such information and reliable reports from each county in the State, the amount and condition of the mechanical and manufacturing interests, the value and location of the various manufacturing and coal productions of the State, also sites offering natural or acquired advantages for the profitable location and operation of different branches of industry."

Though but a little more than a year and a half old, this Bureau has already become of much value to the State. The first report of the Commissioner was published in August last, and is a volume of four hundred pages. In it he discusses the following subjects, among others: Labor Organizations, Co-operative Societies, Technical Education, Manual Training Schools, Convict Labor, Strikes and Arbitration, Farm labor, value, acreage and rentals, The Mining Industry, Cost of living, wages, etc. A goodly share of the report is devoted to the views of working-men upon the various questions of peculiar and vital interest to them.

In creating this Bureau, Iowa has followed the example of a number of the older States, and since this State did this, Maryland, Kansas and Connecticut have passed similar laws, so that now sixteen States have the Bureaus, besides the one at Washington under the auspices of the Government. During the last year the Commissioners of the various Bureaus met at the city of Pullman, Illinois, and made an examination of that place, with a view to the welfare of the workingmen. The results of this work appears at length in this report. A great number of interesting and instructive tables are presented, among which is the following:

CENSUS RETURNS.

It will be noticed that in the foregoing table the wages are given for the cities of New York and Chicago. Those of Iowa are for the State in aggregate. Had those of one city been selected, as in the above instances, they would have been larger even than the aggregate of the State.

This volume, presenting so much information concerning many of the important industries of the State, and dealing with some of the prominent economic questions of the time, is in great demand, not alone in Iowa, but calls have been made for it from a greater part of the States, and from Europe.

STATE MINE INSPECTOR.

PARK C. WILSON, OF MAHASKA COUNTY, INSPECTOR.

---

The following is from the second biennial report of the Inspector.

LABORS OF THE INSPECTOR.

The work of the last two years has not been very satisfactory to me, as there has been more work than one inspector could possibly do, as the mines are scattered over so much territory extending from about three miles north of Fort Dodge, in Webster county, south to the State line, and from Buffalo nine miles west of Davenport, in Scott county, west to the Nodaway river in Adams and Page counties, embracing a territory of about one hundred and twenty-five miles north and south by about two hundred miles east and west. The old mining law took no notice of mines working less than fifteen men. But the Twentieth General Assembly repealed all the laws on mining and enacted the present law, which controls every shaft mine in the State, and every slope or drift mine working five men and upward, and when the number of mines working less than fifteen men and their location is understood, it will be readily seen that the work of the Inspector has been about doubled to what it was under the old law.

In the latter part of March, 1884, immediately after the present law went into effect I procured one thousand copies of the mining law, printed in pamphlet form and started on my tour of inspection.

I had a fair idea of the work before me and knew that if I undertook to make a thorough inspection of the underground works of every mine visited I could not possibly get around to all the mines by the first of July, 1885, and for that reason I did not visit the underground works but confined myself to the work of outside improvements, such as safety catches for the cages and to see that all the mines furnished the proper means of escape in case of fire or an overflow of water.

It will be noticed by reference to the present law that there is a great change from the old law in regard to escapes, which I consider to be about as essential as any portion of the law, as a great deal of the coal of this State is overlaid with water and sand, and if a fall of roof should occur the underground works would soon be filled with water, and if the mine was not provided with the proper escapes there would be a liability of fearful loss of life; for this reason I confined myself to the work of visiting the mines, giving them a copy of the mining law and a written notice to comply with the same.

As before stated, I commenced this work in the latter part of March, 1884, and in the latter part of January, 1885, I had finished the tour of the State, visiting over four hundred and fifty mines; had located over one hundred escape shafts, and at nearly every shaft in the State safety catches had been provided.

Since the present law went into effect there has been seven mines flooded with water, but in every instance the escapes had been provided, and while some of the mines filled with water very rapidly, there has been no loss of life from that cause, all of the underground force escaped, but in some instances everything else was left in the mines and still remain, as the flow of water is so great that the companies could not get pumps enough to overcome the water sufficient to get into the mines, and they have been entirely abandoned.

I am glad to say that nearly all of the mines in the State at the present time comply with the present mining law in every respect except in ventilation, as there are some mines that are poorly ventilated and there always will be some poorly ventilated, unless there is a larger inspection force employed by the State to do the work, as one man cannot visit the inside workings of all the mines of this State and attend to the office work, and do the work as it should be done; for if he should visit one mine a day for every working day in the year, he would then lack about one hundred and seventy-five mines of visiting all the mines in the State.

FISH COMMISSION.

A. W. ALDRICH, ANAMOSA, STATE FISH COMMISSIONER.

ALBERT A. MASIER, SPIRIT LAKE, DEPUTY STATE FISH COMMISSIONER.

The following is taken from the sixth biennial report of the Commissioner:

FISH EGGS RECEIVED 1884-85.

- 45,000 brook trout from W. L. Gilbert, Plymouth Rock, Massachusetts.
- 2,000 English trout, W. L. Gilbert, Plymouth Rock, Massachusetts.
- 30,000 salmon trout, Prof. Baird, Northville, Michigan.
- 1,000,000 white fish, Prof. Baird, Northville, Michigan.
- 10,000 brook trout, Prof. Baird, Northville, Michigan.
- 5,000 California trout, Prof. Baird, Northville, Michigan.
- 20,000 lock-leven trout from Scotland, by Prof. Baird.
- 50,000 land-locked salmon eggs, Prof. Baird, Grandlake stream, Maine.

The eggs from Northville and Grandlake stream were handled by Prof. Clark at the former hatchery, and Hon. Chas. Atkins at the latter, under the direction of Prof. Baird. I am indebted to all these gentlemen for courteous promptness in my behalf.

On my return from a trip for carp, spring of 1885, I brought home twenty fan-tail gold-fish and thirty golden ides, for purposes of experiment.

FISH DISTRIBUTED DURING 1884-85 ASIDE FROM GERMAN CARP.

- 85,000 brook trout, Winneshiek county.
- 8,000 brook trout, Delaware county.
- 2,000 English trout, Delaware county.
- 10,000 brook trout, Jones county.
- 2,000 lock-leven trout, Medium lake, Emmet county.
- 18,000 lock-leven trout, West Okoboji lake, Dickinson county.

1,000,000 white fish, distributed in Northern Iowa lake, by my assistant.

Early in December, 1884, Prof. Baird made a shipment of carp to the Illinois Fish Commissioner, of which I received 1,500. The carp left Washington in good order, but were chilled in transit through the carelessness of the express company, and lost.

The work done by me during the past year has been more especially devoted to the enforcement of the law enacted for the protection of fish native to the waters of Iowa, than to the artificial propagation of varieties of fish new to these waters.

Twenty-five years ago native fish were so plentiful they could be taken from the water by the wagon load with a pitch-fork.

Since my appointment I have captured and destroyed no less than six hundred seines, fish traps and other implements used in the wholesale destruction of fish. Most of these captures have been made peaceably, but in a number of cases it was necessary to arrest the violators of the law to convince them I meant business.

The waters of Iowa need to be let alone. Banish the net, trap, spear and bomb, add the native fish will multiply and be as plentiful as they were in the pioneer days. There is not a river in the State that has not been obstructed for years by nets stretching across its channel, preventing the fish from ascending the stream to spawn. There is not a river in which destructive agencies have not been used disturb and destroy the fish during the breeding season. Let all this be stopped by the sturdy vigilance of the law. The partial clearance of the streams effected by me during the years 1884-5 has made a visible increase in the supply of fish, as can be proven by the affidavits of fishermen and mill-owners. I have confiscated fifty-nine seines on the shores of the Wapsipinican river between the town of Anamosa and the confluence of the river with Mississippi, and one gill-net which had been set across the channel every spring for six or seven years. The result has been that bass, pickerel, yellow pike, croppies and sun fish have been surprisingly abundant this year, and Wapsipinican water has been an Eden of sport to the angler.

STATE OIL INSPECTOR.

B. W. Blanchard, Dubuque, State Inspector of Oils.

The following is taken from the First Biennial Report of the Inspector:

STATISTICS.

Total number barrels inspected.....	57,554
Total number tanks inspected.....	1,485
Total number gallons inspected.....	7,992,000

I have every reason to believe that the law is now rigidly enforced throughout the State. Manufacturers and dealers cheerfully comply with the provisions of the statute, and in its operation, the law is giving general satisfaction to all, and particularly to underwriters and insurance men in the State. Only 249 barrels of illegal oil have been found in the State since the law went into effect. This establishes the fact that manufacturers are sending to Iowa a good grade of oil and that dealers are making no attempt to sell other than high-grade goods. The record for the past year has been a good one. The people of Iowa have enjoyed perfect immunity from lamp explosions and have been given a grade of oil that can be safely used with anything like ordinary care or prudence. The inspection law is based upon the right and duty of the State to protect the lives and property of its citizens, and I am gratified to know that the law is accomplishing the object sought by its enactment. I do not think any State in the Union is enjoying more perfect immunity from accidents in the way of oil explosions than Iowa. In other states, where there are no inspection laws, or where the test is low, accidents are quite common and loss of life and property frequent.

HISTORICAL MEMORANDA.

The territory embraced in the present State of Iowa is a part of what is commonly called the "Louisiana Purchase," which, as is known, includes all that portion of our national possessions west of the Mississippi river, excepting Texas and the territory since obtained from Mexico and from Russia. This immense domain, known in the treaties as the "Colony or Province of Louisiana," was originally taken possession of by France, which nation divided with England, Spain, and Russia, the entire continent of North America. In 1763, at the close of what is known in our history as the "old French war," and in Europe as the "seven-years war," France parted with her share of the continent; Great Britain retaining Canada and the regions to the northward, which she had conquered during the war, while Spain obtained by cession the territory west of the Mississippi. On the 1st of October, 1800, Spain, by the treaty of St. Idelfonso, retroceded this territory to France. By the treaty of April 30, 1803, France ceded it to the United States, in consideration of which the former government was to receive the sum of $11,250,000, and the liquidation of certain claims held by citizens of the United States against France, not exceeding in amount, $3,750,000.

By act of Congress, approved October 31, 1803, the President was authorized to take possession of the territory and provide for it a temporary government. By another act of the same session, approved March 26, 1804, the newly acquired country was divided, October 1, 1804, into the territory of "Orleans" (south of the thirty-third parallel north latitude) and the district of "Louisiana," which latter was placed under the authority of the officers of Indiana territory. On the 4th of July, 1805, under act of Congress, approved March 3, 1805, the "District of Louisiana" was organized into a territory of the same name, with a government of its own, in which condition it remained until 1812. On the 30th of April, in that year, the territory of Orleans became a State of the Union, under the name of "Louisiana;" and on the first Monday in December, by virtue of an act approved June 4, 1812, the territory of Louisiana was reorganized and called the "territory of Missouri." By an act of Congress, approved March 2, 1819, which took effect July 4, "Arkansaw territory" was formed, comprising the present State of Arkansas and the county to the westward. By a joint resolution, approved March 2, 1821, the "State of Missouri," being a part of the territory of that name, was admitted into the Union.

By act of Congress, approved June 28, 1834, the territory "bounded on the east by the Mississippi river, on the south by the State of Missouri," &c., was made a part of the territory of Michigan. On the 3d day of July, 1838, Wisconsin territory, embracing within its limits the present States of Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin was taken from that of Michigan and given a separate government. On the 3d day of July, 1838, by virtue of an act of Congress, approved June 12, 1838, the territory of Iowa was constituted, including in addition to the present State the greater part of what is now Minnesota, and extending northward to the British line.

By act of Congress, approved March 3d, 1845, provision was made for the admission of Iowa into the Union, with boundaries extending on the north to the parallel of latitude passing through the mouth of the Mankato or Blue Earth river, and on the west only to  $17^{\circ} 30'$  west from Washington, corresponding very nearly to the existing line between Ringgold and Union counties, on the one hand, and Taylor and Adams on the other. The Constitutional Convention of 1844 had adopted much more extensive boundaries even than those of the present State, the northwestern line extending from the mouth of the Big Sioux or Calumet river direct to the St. Peter's river where the Watonwan river (according to Nicollet's map) enters the same; thence down the main channel of said river to the main channel of the Mississippi river; and thence down the Mississippi, embracing within the proposed limits some of the richest portions of the present State of Minnesota. The reduction of these boundaries by Congress being quite distasteful to the people, the whole thing was rejected at a popular election. In 1846 Congress proposed new boundary lines, which were embodied in the Constitution adopted that year; the State retaining the Missouri slope, but submitting to a material reduction of its pretensions on the north, its western line in that direction, however, being extended to the Big Sioux river. The Constitution with these modified boundaries having been accepted by the people, the STATE OF IOWA was formally admitted into the Union on the twenty eighth day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and forty-six, as the twenty-ninth State in the Union.

The article on pages 400-401 entitled "Historical Memoranda," is a reprint from the Census report of 1867.
